Mt. St. Mary's Awards Cardinal Spellman LENTZ NAMED Honorary Degree At Special Convocation CHAIRMAN FOR Marks Bond Between College, New York See SCOUTS' DRIVE

His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York and Military Vicar for the Armed Forces of the United States, will be honored with the award of an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., at a special convocation on November 16, 1956. The convocation, which will be held at 10:30 a.m. in Memorial gymnasium, is the first of its kind in the 149-year history of the col-

Cardinal Spellman will receive the degree in recognition of his distinguished career as a Prince of the Church and Archbishop of New York and for his tireless activities as Military Vicar for the armed forces. The degree will mark also the close bond between the Archdiocese of New York and Mount St. Mary's College, four of whose sons served as episcopal leaders of the Archdiocese between 1826 and 1902.

Close Bond

The relationship between the Archdiocese of New York and Mount St. Mary's began in 1826 when Father John Dubois, who founded the college in 1808, was named the third Bishop of New York. He was followed in 1842 by John Hughes who had been coadjutor bishop for five years. In 1850 Hughes became the first Archbishop of New York. During his episcopacy he founded Fordham University, began St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1858, established St. Joseph's Seminary in Troy, N. Y., and helped found the North American College in Rome.

Cardinal John McCloskey, the first American cardinal and a graduate of Mount St. Mary's, succeeded Archbishop Hughes in 1864. Cardinal McCloskey had been consecrated on March 10, 1844, as coadjutor bishop of New York. Consecrated with him were two other Mountaineers, Andrew Byrne, largest episcopal See in the world as Military Vicar for the Armed Alpha Phi Omega, Gettysburg Colfirst Bishop of Little Rock, Ark., and William Quarter, first Bish- Cardinal Spellman annually visits the foreign fronts at which American

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON A - Issues frayed by long controversy await the new 85th Congress.

Domestic problems include federal aid for school construction, civil rights, farm and labor policies, and statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. "

Democrats, who wrested control from the Republicans two years ago, again elected majorities to both branches of Congress Tues-

But the new Congress, like others in recent years, will be dominated by a Southern Democratic-Republican coalition and can be expected to steer a middle-of-theroad course.

President Eisenhower's influence with the lawmakers may be weakened by knowledg that the constitution bars him from running for r-election even if he wanted to. But an offsetting factor, at the outset at least, may be the size of his own election victory.

Asks Bipartisan Support Eisenhower already has bid for renewed bipartisan support in the tense international situation by calling top congressional leaders to the White House tomorrow for a briefing on events in Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

Democrats, holding majorities in Senate and House, are in a position to name committee chairmen and to fill other leadership posts in the new Congress that will convene Jan. 3.

With six races still undecided, the Democrats had a 229-200 margin over the Republicans in the House.

The Senate was much closer, with the Democrats leading 49-46 in the decided contests and the Republican candidate leading in the one race still open-in Kentucky.

Hinges On Lausche The Republicans conceivably could get the power to organize the Senate.

This is because Sen .- elect Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, a Democrat noted for independent ways, indicated last June that if elected. he might vote with the Republicans under certain circumstances in the organization of the Senate. He has not clarified his present stand, but said yesterday he was "American first and Democrat second.

With the division 49-47, his vote could be crucial since Vice President Nixon could break a 48-48 tie vote and turn the Senate reins over to the Republicans.

PHILADELPHIA (A)-A city patrolman involved in the probe of an alleged vice ring has been suspended by Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons.

Montgomery County Dist. Atty. Bernard DiJoseph issued a warrant Monday for the arrest of the patrolman Edward J. Ward, 25. on information given by Lila Frost, 1. of Philadelphia.

The statement charges Ward with morals offenses at the estate of James and Cornelia Worden at suburban Spring House in Montgomery County last July. Photos Seized

The Wordens are under bail in the vice ring investigation following a raid on their home in which a number of obscene photographs were seized.

Police charge they observed "wild orgies" on the Worden estat last summer while hidden in nearby shrubbery.

Gibbons said Ward will be suspended "pending further investigation and-or a hearing before the police board of inquiry."

The suspension, effective at midnight last night, was for 30 days. Ward joined the force Oct. 5, 1955.

Plan Probe Of New School Site

HARRISBURG (A) - A special committee will begin an investigation Nov. 15 into a controversy involved in the selection of a site for the Warrior Run Area School in Northumberland County.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, named these two educators and school director to the committee yesterday:

Dr. Charles Long, Pennsylvania State University, chairman; Dr. Carl Whipple, superintendent of schools at Warren, and H. Franklin Moore, school director of Hilltown Twp. Schools, Blooming Glen, Bucks County.

A group of Watsontown residents oppose location of the joint school building.

The department said earlier that a non-partisan group would be named to carry out the investigation and report its findings to the department for a decision.

HARRISBURG A -Repub lican State Chairman George I. Bloom says the victory of President Ei senhower in the election Tuesday was "an unmistakable vote of confidence" and showed that "the people believe in the President and his program."

In a statement vesterday Bloom said, however, that he was "exceedingly disappointed in our loss of Sen. Duff" but added "otherwise it was a spectacular victory for the Republican party."

U.S. Sen. James H. Duff, Republican, lost out in his quest for a second term to Joseph S. Clark, former Democratic mayor of Philadelphia. Clark was the only statewide Democratic candidate to win in Tuesday's voting.

"The landslide victory of President Eisenhower was an unmistakable vote of confidence in Ike and his strong policies both at home and abroad," Bloom said, adding:

15 is interesting to note that Dubois and Hughes, who were so closely associated at Mount St. Mary's and New York, left Mount St Mary's on the same day, Oct. 6, 1826, while John McCloskey, the future Cardinal, saw them off as a member of the student body. Hughes was the first priest to be ordained from Mount St. Mary's who had completed his full course of studies there. #### Cardinal Especially Close

While all the Mountaineer prelates maintained a most cordial relationship with their Alma Mater, Cardinal McCloskey has a special place in the hearts of all Mount St. Mary's men. It was then, also, that the students of Fordham and Manhattan, inspired by the example of the Cardinal, surrendered their usual class medals requesting that the cost be donated to Mount St. Mary's. The diocesan paper commented: "No gold medal that either Manhattan or Fordham has vet given to worthy students will be more honorable than the bits of paper these students received in lieu of medals."

Archbishop Michael A. Corrigan, graduated from Mount St. Mary's in 1857 and one of the original students at the North American College, Rome, succeeded Cardinal McCloskey. He had been Bishop of Newark from 1873 to 1880 and then became coadjutor in New York. He succeeded to the Archbishopric in 1885 and died in 1902. As Archbishop of New York he founded the diocesan seminary. St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie, erected the Cathedral Lady Chapel and further embellished the Cathedral.

Holidays are fun, but they're hard on Mom.

The dishes that pile up after Thanksgiving dinner, pre-Christmas parties and the snacks of young fry home for the holidays can keep Mom with her hands in the sink from morning to night, unless some smart advance planning is done.

As any homemaker knows, snacks and icebox leftovers can dirty up more dishes than a regular meal. And so many have found that a supply of paper plates and containers lightens the dishwashng load amazingly.

If leftovers are stored in paper containers or on paper plates, there's no dishwashing to do after the refrigerator is raided. Paper plates also come in handy for chopping vegetables, fruits and nuts for holiday meals, for catching the drip from stirring spoons for dozens of kitchen chores which otherwise would result in a sink full of dirty dishes.

GIVES CLUES TO GAINING FACTS ON ODD ANTIQUES

Sometime in her life a woman is likely to be bitten with the antique bug. She buys a little thing, perhaps a piece of old glass, pewter or a love seat, and bingo - she begins to dislike everything else in her home, particularly her furniture.

That is only the beginning. Even after she has attended a few auc tions, visited some antique shops and read some books, she realizes that for all her interest, she is antique-ignorant. She doesn't really know one piece from another.

How do the "experts" gain such knowledge?

Some study their subject ob jectively as others study architecture or engineering. Others trust to luck with the help of books and articles. The best informed may be fooled occasionally. There are short-cuts to the knowledge for amateurs. Give Cue

Certain details of a piece of furniture may give a cue to its origin. Pre - revlutionay chests and secretaries made in New York, for instance, reflect the Dutch inpieces made during the same

OLD FASHIONED JELLY ROLL HAS MANY FILLINGS

By CECILY BROWNSTONE The Associated Press

One of the delights of our Canadian childhood was to watch our mother baking a jelly roll. Lolling in a chair at one side of the large kitchen table, chin cupped in palms, we watched in fascinated silence while she smoothed sugar over a freshly laundered tea towel.

After lifting the big flat pan from the oven, she turned out the cake over the sugar and spread it with gleaming red jelly. With her deft right hand she guided the cake, and with her left hand she lifted high the snowy towel as she rolled the dessert to a finish. It was all done, with the sureness of a practiced cook, in a matter of seconds. But to our young and wondering eyes it was a miracle. Wrapped in its towel, the cake was left sitting until a precise moment-four o'clock tea-when it was gently removed, sliced, served and eaten blissfully. We were startled the other day when, after describing this jelly

Parts orders from overseas are received at transceiver stations on both coasts and then relayed to Tulsa where the orders are fired to the proper supply depot.
